Sixty-Seventh Congress Convenes; To Hear Harding's Message Tomorrow

Republicans In Complete Control Of Machinery

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The Sixty-seventh congress assembled promptly at noon today at the call of President Harding for his first session, expected now to continue probably until fall.

Except for the reorganization of the house and the usual flood of bills there, today's meetings were somewhat perfunctory, the congress marking time until the receipt tomorrow of President Harding's first message outlining his views as to the important problems before the national lawmakers.

House Organizes

This congress is the first controlled by the Republicans to meet under a Republican administration in a decade. The senate previously had been organized at its special session which began last March 4, but the house proceeded to its organization by re-electing Frederick H. Gillett, of Massachusetts over Claude Kitchin, of North Carolina, the Democratic candidate. The vote was on strictly party lines and Mr. Gillett was elected by an overwhelming majority.

Frank W. Mondell, of Wyoming was re-elected Republican leader, while Representative Kitchin became the Democratic leader by virtue of his nomination for the speakership.

Woman Among New Members

Nearly all of the 435 members were present for the opening. The crowded house galleries broke into applause when Miss Alice M. Robertson, Republican, of the Second Oklahoma district, the only woman member of congress, came on the floor. She carried a bunch of red roses.

Miss Robertson was one of the more than 100 new members, most of them Republicans, who answered the first roll call. Most of them stood in groups behind Speaker Gillett when he took his place to be sworn in.

Fully a thousand bills and resolutions, many of which failed to get through the last session, were thrown into the hopper long before the house got under way. There was no peace resolution in the lot, this being held

MUCH FRUIT IS KILLED BY LATE FREEZE

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 11.—Continued cold weather tonight with light frost over states east of the Mississippi and as far south as north Florida, was forecast today by the Weather Bureau. Generally fair weather over the whole region for the next two or three days was predicted, with temperatures starting up again tomorrow morning.

On the Atlantic coast, storm warnings were set at 9:30 a. m. today with a moderate disturbance off the southern New England coast moving northward and indicating winds of gale force, northeast and north, on the Maine coast later in the day.

COLUMBUS, O., April 11.—With the temperature dropping to 26 above zero here early this morning, weather bureau officials, were positive that severe damage to fruit and crops must have resulted from last night's freeze and frost.

Horticulturists and orchardists expressed fear today that much of central Ohio's fruit that escaped killing frosts a week ago, fell victim to last night's glim.

"The damage will be very heavy and all varieties of fruit will suffer," said Professor Wendell Laddock, head of the department of horticulture and forestry at Ohio State University.

General use of orchard heaters and smudge pots was reported in central Ohio by large commercial fruit growers.

Reports from over the state indicate that freezing temperatures were general last night.

Harding Administration Made Good Progress In First Month Of Regime

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1921, by Times Pub. Co.)
WASHINGTON, April 11.—The first month of the administration of President Harding has passed so rapidly that to most of the cabinet officers it has seemed like a week.

Viewing the work of the new regime dispassionately and with a recognition of the fact that Rome was not built in a day, even the most ardent partisans will admit that a start has been made on more problems in the last four weeks than was possible in the last year of the preceding administration.

This doesn't necessarily imply criticism of the officials who tried hard to make progress in the face of inevitable friction between a Republican congress and a Democratic executive. But it proves that when all branches of the government are of one political complexion, decisions can be made and things accomplished.

Harding Makes Headway
President Harding was looked upon before his election as a man of more or less leisurely ways. He hasn't proved so in office. He has worked night and day. He has gone at his job with a serious and earnest mind, knowing very well that he must satisfy an impatient electorate. Mr. Harding himself feels that he has made headway on many important matters but if he was to speak what was in his heart he would tell the American public that the individual who invented patronage and the distribution of public offices for political activity was really more of a serpent than the evil genius of ancient Egypt.

Harding Pestered By Job Hunters
Mr. Harding is pestered day and night by the obligations of politics. It isn't that he owes anybody anything but members of the Senate and House must be kept happy and they are in turn bothered by hungry constituents. Some idea of Mr. Harding's feeling was given John Kendrick Banes the other day when he dropped in at the White House to pay his respects. Long lines of people had just passed through the executive offices shaking hands. Mr. Banes said to the president afterwards:

"It must be tiresome to shake hands with so many people."
"Not at all," replied the president.

O'Callaghan To Fight His Removal From American Soil

WASHINGTON, April 11.—O'Callaghan will remain in this country until he considers it safe to return to Ireland," said Michael Francis Dayle, attorney for the Lord Mayor of Cork, here today. "Nothing was served on the Department of Labor," he said, "that a writ of habeas corpus would be immediately applied for if any effort were made to deport the Lord Mayor."

PHILADELPHIA, April 11.—"O'Callaghan will remain in this country until he considers it safe to return to Ireland," said Michael Francis Dayle, attorney for the Lord Mayor of Cork, here today.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 11.—Secretary Davis in a formal statement today said he had no doubt that Donald O'Callaghan, Lord Mayor of Cork, would comply with "the logic of the situation" and reshuffle foreign as an alien seaman within sixty days from the date of the State Department ruling that he was not entitled to asylum in the United States as a political refugee.

Survey Of Damage Done

WOOSTER—Horticulturists at Ohio Experiment Station, fear cherry, plum, pear and peach crops in northern and central Ohio almost wholly destroyed. Doubt as to damage done apples. Bright sun which raised temperature quickly added to destruction.

PORT CLINTON—Ottawa county peach crop not severely damaged. Temperature 26. Temperature of twenty required to completely destroy crop. Apples and other later fruit not far enough advanced to be affected.

GALLIPOLIS—Heavy frost and freezing temperature damages fruit in southern Ohio. Ice half an inch thick formed.

LANCASTER—Fruit severely damaged. Eight degrees below freezing.

YOUNGSTOWN—Fruit in Mahoning valley virtually ruined. Temperature of 26 degrees. Rain and sleet, followed by bright sun. Loss in Mahoning, Columbiana and Trumbull counties runs into millions.

SPRINGFIELD—Clark county estimates damage at $100,000. Half of the crop ruined.

LORAIN—Frost did $800,000 damage to apple, peach and pear orchards in Lorain county. Cherries and plums blighted in freeze ten days ago.

Davis Wants 'Teeth' To Deal With Disputes

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Legislation to put "teeth" in Labor Department efforts to conciliate labor disputes was urged today by Secretary Davis. Both sides should be compelled to live up to agreements reached or decisions of arbitrators they have accepted, he said.

"This is not compulsory arbitration," Mr. Davis said. "I do not believe it feasible to pass laws against the right of workmen to strike, but I believe there should be laws to make all parties to labor disputes try to get together before strikes are called."

Bill Would Abolish Rail Labor Board

WASHINGTON, April 11.—A bill to abolish the Railroad Labor Board, now functioning under the transportation act, and place its duties under the Interstate Commerce Commission, was introduced today by Representative Tinch, Republican, Kansas.

Senator Poinsett, of Washington, announced that he would reintroduce his bill penalizing railroad workers for any concerted effort to bring about a strike of railroad workers.

ONE KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

CINCINNATI—Louis F. Moller, dead and three companions injured as result of their automobile colliding with street car.

The above photographs shows Doorn Castle, Holland, where the ex-Kaiserin spent her final hours and one of the last pictures taken of the ex-empress of Germany and former Emperor William before their flight from their native country. The ex-empress, Augustus Victoria, has been in poor health for many years, being forced to forego court social functions as far back as 1912. Regret and grief over the fate of Germany in the world war and the loss of millions of her countrymen in the conflict, weighed heavily on her and no doubt hastened her death, which occurred at six o'clock this morning. The crowning blow to her sorrows, however, was the forced flight of her husband—bitten and in disrepute in his own land—to the

Women And Children Are Carried To Safety

NEW YORK, April 11.—One man was burned to death and a number of persons were injured early today when fire destroyed four three-story apartment dwellings in Brooklyn. Women and children, their exit blocked by the flames, were carried to safety by police.

DOORN, HOLLAND, April 11.—Former Empress Augusta Victoria of Germany died here at six o'clock this morning. By a strange coincidence the end came just one year after she suffered her first serious attack of heart disease.

It was while she was preparing to enter the House of Doorn, the present home of the former emperor of Germany, after her long residence at Aachen, that she was stricken with what at the time was believed to be a fatal attack. That was on April 11, 1920.

For a few days there were reports that her death was momentarily expected, but she rallied and accompanied her husband to Doorn on May 17, last.

Never Learned Son Killed Self
Attacks of her fatal malady occurred at frequent intervals, each sapping her vitality and multiplying the measures taken by specialists to restore her health. When her son, former Prince Joachim, committed suicide in Berlin last July, she was in such serious condition that the news of his death was kept from her for a long time and it is said she never learned her son killed himself.

Late last autumn the former empress' condition gradually became worse and on several occasions her children were called to Doorn, but her strength was such that she rallied bravely when the end was believed imminent. Since the first of this year, it had been known that she was gradually sinking.

Former Emperor William and Prince Adalbert were at the bedside when the former empress died. They had been called by Dr. Haesner, who attended the former empress throughout her residence in Holland.

Daughter Failed To Reach Bedside
The death came as a shock to the dwellers in Doorn Castle, as during last week the patient's condition had seemed less serious. Nevertheless last Saturday Dr. Haesner, after consultations with Professor Hymans, the Dutch heart specialist thought it advisable to send a message to Princess Victoria Louise, the only daughter of the former emperor and empress, calling her to Doorn. The princess, who then was in Vienna, had not reached Doorn when death came to the ex-empress this morning.

Last night the patient was only semi-conscious. She was kept from suffering by frequent hypodermic injections, but her breathing appeared to become hourly more difficult. At five o'clock this morning nursing assistants the attending nurse, and Countess von Keller, an old friend of the former empress, to adjust the patient's position so that she might become more comfortable.

As the day broke, breathing became still more difficult for the failing patient and her pulse grew weaker. It then was evident to the physicians.

HAYWOOD AND 79 OTHER I. W. W. LOSE FIGHT TO KEEP OUT OF PRISON

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 11.—The supreme court today refused to review the conviction of William D. Haywood and more than 79 other members of the I. W. W., on charges of having conspired to obstruct the war activities of the government. Refusal of the supreme court to interfere, closes the long fight to save Haywood and his associates from prison. Only a presidential pardon can now prevent their entering upon the sentences imposed. Petition for review was based on the contention that the federal agents in conducting raids on the homes and offices of officials of the I. W. W., on September 1917, acted without search warrants and that the evidence thus obtained was illegal under recent rulings of the Supreme Court.

The cases were tried before Federal Judge Landis and sentences ranging from one to twenty years were imposed. Most of the men were given their liberty on bail bonds aggregating $500,000, pending the outcome of the appeals.

BRITISH MINE OWNERS AND STRIKING EMPLOYEES CONFER TO END STRIKE

LONDON, April 11.—British mine owners and their striking employees conferred for an hour at the Board of Trade this morning on a possible settlement of the controversy which led to the miners' walkout last week. The conference adjourned at noon until 4 o'clock this afternoon. Robert S. Horne, chancellor of the exchequer, presided.

LONDON, April 11.—The London Times today warned its readers against expectation that the negotiations would proceed smoothly, or that work would be immediately resumed, as the fundamental differences between the parties still remain acute. Estimates of the cost of the miners' dispute to this country, including the loss of unmined coal, unpaid wages, decreased railway traffic and the cost of emergency measures placed the bill (Continued on Page Six)

One Half Of Greenup Road Will Be Built This Year

The Ashland Independent of local interest Sunday said:

One-half of the proposed new hard road to Greenup, Ky., will be built this year and the remaining half will be constructed the following year, providing the citizens of Ashland rally to the support of the project in the campaign to raise $25,000 in this city which is to start next week, and which is in charge of a special committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce under the leadership of S. C. Peebles.

Following the visit of two of the members of the State Highway Commission, Mr. Joe Duggs and Hon. Green Garretts, who came to this city at the invitation of the Chamber of Commerce committee and a committee representing Greenup and Russell to study at first hand the road situation in this community, the visiting commissioners, made the recommendation that if Ashland would raise the sum of $25,000, and Boyd County would build the road from the city to the Boyd county line under the state specifications for the remainder of the road, and that if Greenup county would likewise raise the sum of $25,000 and would release the state from paying $50,000 of the $175,000 which the state owes Greenup county and which the commonwealth was paying back at the approximate rate of $12,700 per year then they would recommend to the state commission that the road be built, one-half this year, and the other half the following year.

Greenup county immediately accepted the offer of the state commissioners to relinquish the claim of $20,000 of the $75,000 state debt and also agreed to raise $25,000 in money provided Ashland would raise a like amount.

Britain Seeks Settlement Of Oil Disputes

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Adjustment of the dispute between the United States and Great Britain growing out of the San Remo oil agreement concerning Mesopotamia has been suggested informally to the United States, it was learned today officially.

The plan "proposed" was in a memorandum reaching the State Department, but not made in such a manner as to place the necessity for decision upon the government until more definite representations are received. It was proposed that the United States appoint a commissioner to confer with the British petroleum commission in the belief that such direct negotiations would lead to a more speedy adjustment than might be expected through usual diplomatic exchanges.

Germans Found Well Organized In Upper Silesia

PARIS, April 11.—Dispatches received from the Allied commission in Upper Silesia which supervised the recent plebiscite there declare a complete German military organization, with a full battalion in each district has been discovered in this region.

The entire force, numbering twenty battalions, with a full complement of machine guns and other arms and munitions, is ready for action, the message asserts.

Most of the German functionaries in Upper Silesia are alleged to be involved in a plot to employ force, in case the German claims for Upper Silesia are rejected by the allied supreme council. The Germans had considerable majority in the total plebiscite's vote but important sections voted in favor of Poland.

MISS DOLLY WISE

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Miss Wise—I am going with a girl fifteen years of age and have been going with her some time but her father and mother object to her going with me. I love her very much and she tells me she loves me very much. Now, Dolly, do you think there is anything wrong in that? She wants to go with me and I want to go with her. Please tell me if you think we are too young?

ANGEL H.
I think both of you should observe her parents' wishes, as you are still very young to take your friendship so seriously. You should enjoy the acquaintance of more than one girl just as she should have other boy friends.

Hopeful—Men older than you have decided to go straight after becoming tired of indecisions. So I think you have plenty of time to make good. You will surely profit by it in the end as you should know that your constitution couldn't endure it for long. I would advise the course in bookkeeping and later, when you become efficient in that you could take up other work. It is so much better to work up to it than to go into it right away. Your life may have been wasted thus far, but you have a long time ahead in which to make up for it.

Dear Dolly—There is a real classy looking young lady that rides the New Boston street car quite often that I would like to get acquainted with. She mostly wears a black velvet dress black lace hose, satin pumps. Please answer in the Times how I can get acquainted with her. Thanking you, STRANGER HERE.

If you are a stranger, it is likely that you know no one that might know the young woman in question. Speak to her, she can't do any more than turn you down, if she takes offense.

Dear Miss Wise—What is the cause of poor blood circulation? Would bad results cause me to have pains in my back? I know I have very bad ones.
TWO CHUMS.

There are so many reasons why the blood circulates poorly, that a physician should be consulted to determine the cause. The trouble may be at the heart, or in the arteries, or in the veins, or in many disturbances. If they are discussed the physician condition would be much improved by their removal. To you last question I won't publish. I would advise a diet recommended by your physician.

James L.—It would not be advisable to marry the young woman now until she has received a course of treatment.

Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I have a strong, healthy baby girl. I can honestly say that I did not suffer much more when my baby was born than I used to suffer with my periods before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound years ago. I give all the credit to your medicine and shall always recommend it very highly."—Mrs. H. H. JANSSEN, Millston, Wisconsin.

How can women who are weak and sickly expect or hope to become mothers of healthy children? Their first duty is to themselves. They should overcome the derangement or debility that is dragging them down, and strengthen the entire system, as did Mrs. Janssen, by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and give their children the blessing of a good constitution.

BILLY WELKER

When the greyhounds caught up with the St. Bernard they tried to pass, but locked wheels instead and pulled the front ones off of the big dog's cart and down it went, spilling its driver out in the most unceremonious manner. The greyhounds kept straight on, and Betty, hearing them coming, and knowing that she herself could not win, deliberately turned across the road, stopping them as they were about to pass. The hounds were coming at such rate of speed that they could not stop, neither could Betty's surprised driver pull her aside, for she stood, obstinate and immovable as the traditional mule always stands. The breakage and mix-up she caused can better be imagined than described, for the hounds jumped right over her, cart and all, but alas! the cart they were hitched to struck the other and refused to go over as the greyhounds had done.

The sudden jerk, loosened the hounds and they ran off under the fence out of the ring, while their driver lay on his back where he had been thrown by the sudden jolt, while, as for Betty, her driver and the cart, they were all mixed up promiscuously in the broken harness of the hounds.

The greyhounds are a quarrelsome lot, and when one of the kind ones hit the dog in front of him, he turned to retaliate, which jerked the leader back and made him angry, and then they all commenced to snarl and bite, with the result before mentioned.

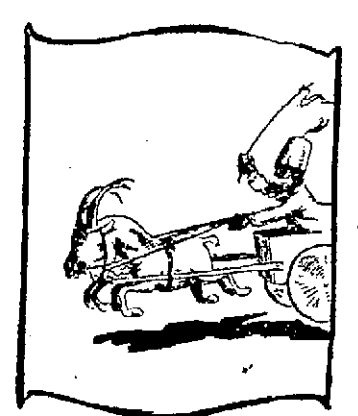

In speaking of it afterward, Betty explained to Billy that she hated hounds and that she was bound they should not win the race, so she decided to stop them long enough for her friend Billy to reach the goal, which he did ahead of all others.

So, after all, this mixed race ended as races of this kind usually do, by the one you least expect to win, getting the blue ribbon.

When Billy and Naunie came in ahead, Billy was so pleased with himself that he nearly wagged his tail off his body. As for Sambo, he tried to look dignified, but as soon as he was out of sight of the crowd, he indulged in several hand-springs and somersaults.

Poor Manny was so pleased with her boy that she determined to give him a quarter of a dollar all for himself, for this world, in a way, case her conscience for having scolded him when he lost Billy.

It took but a short time, after the races for the people to get their different rigs and start for home, and the road was filled with clouds of rolling dust, kicked up by the horses who were being raced to see who could reach home first, for, in the country, there are chores and milking to do before dark, and so each man tries to get home as early as possible.

Half way home, our party passed Sambo and the goats, literally covered with dust, and just a little further on, Cricket and Fleet. The little darkies were driving slowly, reading their charges after the unusual excitement of the day, and so it was Violet who first carried the news to the farm that Fleet and her goats had won the blue ribbon prizes. She stayed in the house only long enough to change her dress and shoes and slip into her much-beloved gingham and her low-heeled shoes, that felt so comfortable after being dressed up all day. She said she didn't see how city people could stand being fixed up all the time.

(Tomorrow you'll hear how the other animals received the news.)

Make This Test

Watch how your teeth respond

This ten-day test has shown to millions the way to whiter, safer teeth. It is a free test—you should make it. No other method known can do what Pepsodent does for teeth.

To end the film

The object is to fight the film, which dims the teeth and causes most tooth troubles. Dental science has worked years to do that.

Film is that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. The ordinary tooth paste does not combat it satisfactorily, so brushing leaves much of it intact.

It is the film-coat that discolors, not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Thus all these troubles have been constantly increasing, despite the tooth brush.

How we combat it

Dental science, after years of searching, has found ways to combat film. High authorities have proved them by clinical and laboratory tests.

The best dental opinion now approves these methods. Leading dentists everywhere are urging their adoption. Millions of people, as a result, now employ them daily.

The methods are combined in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. And a 10-Day Tube is offered free, so all who will may quickly know how much it means to them.

Five much desired effects

One ingredient of Pepsodent is pepsin. Another multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva to digest the starch deposits which cling and form acid.

It also multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, to neutralize the acids which cause tooth decay. Two factors directly attack the film. One of them keeps teeth so highly polished that film cannot easily adhere.

Pepsodent combines the best that modern science knows to combat the great tooth destroyers. It has brought a new era in teeth cleaning.

Watch it act

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coat disappears.

You will see several new effects, and the book we send will tell you what they mean. This is too important to forget. Cut out the coupon now.

A crowd of friends were at the pier next day to see the trio off on their adventures, and Gwendolyn felt a wrench at her breast as she saw the kindly faces bounding up at them from below as the boat slowly steamed away from its moorings, hesitated for a moment, then swung far out into the stream. With a little sigh she turned to where Fern stood, mopping her eyes with a wispy handkerchief, and saying through her tears, "Good old crowd, isn't it Gwendy. And we'll miss every one of 'em, so we won't we?"

"Yes, indeed. They're true-blue and I love them all," answered Gwendolyn. "But come now, let's go and have a peek at our staterooms and get acquainted with some of the stewards before luncheon."

The trip down the bay was glorious. The crowd on board was in festive mood and everyone seemed to smile at everyone else in a way that delighted Gwendolyn. Shipboard did away with a lot of conventional stiffness, it appeared. No wonder it was so popular.

On the eighth day they landed in Liverpool, and before nightfall of the same day Gwendolyn found herself in one of the cities of her dreams. A only other criticism of importance comes from pro-league Republicans who voted for Mr. Harding because they believed he would enter the present league of nations and ratify the Versailles treaty with suitable reservations. Their disappointment is not as yet widespread as it will be when they read Mr. Harding's message next Tuesday. But Mr. Harding and his associates interpret the last election as having meant an overwhelming repudiation of the league and treaty. And many are expected to pick up a few murmuring individuals will have to express themselves to the same effect before the Harding administration will be convinced that its interpretation of the election mandate is incorrect.

Tariff Bill Right At Top

Right at the top of the list of bills was the Fordney emergency tariff, voted by Mr. Wilson, but brought in under another name, precisely in its old form except with a stipulation making it effective in six months instead of ten. It will be called up Wednesday under a Republican program providing for its passage, probably by Wednesday night.

Unlike the opening of the last congress there were few investigation resolutions. The Kahn resolution for investigation of the escape of Grover Cleveland Borsodell, the Philadelphia draft dodger, now in Germany, was in the hopper at noon.

Because of the large number of Republicans in both the house and senate, it was necessary to establish so-called "Cherokee Strips" in each house between the Republican and Democratic sides, the overflow of its public members being seated in these strips.

Reconstruction The Theme

Reconstruction of American affairs at home and abroad is the theme of the new Congress. The new session promises to prolong the session confronting the new Congress.

Programs of the Senate and House for today's opening were confined to organization. The work of the new Congress, informally arranged by press conference at noon, was as follows: formal dedication, tomorrow; Wednesday, in President Harding's message, this was expected to deal principally with domestic affairs, tariff, internal revenue and other home legislation. Peace and other international problems were scheduled for attention later in the session.

The special session beginning today—marks the return of the republican party to complete national control. Not since President Taft's time have the White House, the Senate and the House been under republican rule. The Senate convenes with 30 republicans and 37 democrats and the House with 300 republicans and 132 democrats and one socialist.

Fiscal Legislation Pre-eminence

Pre-eminence in the new session program is fiscal legislation. This includes the Fordney emergency tariff bill, in line for immediate action; anti-dumping legislation, substitution of American and foreign valuations of imports, permanent tariff revision, a new internal revenue tax law, the budget system bill, and the soldiers' bonus bill. Other measures are those for reorganization of government departments and for reclassification of federal salary and wage scales.

The opening flood of bills and resolutions which filled during the session with adjournment March 4, but always begins in the House. Introduction of Senate bills and resolutions comes tomorrow.

Most of the Senate and House members, new and old, were present for today's opening. Although perhaps, the opening session was the most important for spectators. The Senate having organized during its special session after March 4, interest today centered in the House proceedings.

House Program

The House program today was as follows: Mr. William Tyler Page, clerk, called House to order. Prayer by the chaplain and reading by the clerk, of President Harding's proclamation calling Congress into extraordinary session.

Chief Page called the roll of the House, by state instead of alphabetical membership.

Declaration of Speaker, Rep. Gilbert H. Hodges, former Senator, being nominated from the republican side, and Rep. Kitchen of North Carolina.

from the democratic side. Speaker Gillett escorted to chair by a committee and after being sworn in delivered a brief address.

House officers re-elected and sworn in as follows: clerk, William Tyler Page; sergeant-at-arms, Joseph G. Rodgers; doorkeeper, Bert Kennedy; and postmaster, Frank W. Collier—all republican holdovers.

State delegation sworn in by Speaker Gillett.

Resolutions adopted appointing committees to notify the President and the Senate of the assembling of the House.

Election of republicans and democrats to committees.

Adoption of rules and adjournment until tomorrow.

Senate Program

The Senate program was similar but more brief because of previous organization. It provided:

Call to order by Vice-President Coolidge and opening prayer by chaplain.

Clerk George Sanderson reads President's proclamation calling the extra session.

Sweeping in of two new Senators, Norbeck of South Dakota and Bursom of New Mexico, republicans, who were NOT present during the extra session of the Senate after March 4.

Roll call and declaration of a constitutional quorum.

Resolutions appointing a committee—Senators Lodge of Massachusetts and Underwood of Alabama, republican and democratic floor leaders, respectively, as majority President Harding of the Senate's presence, and of committee for similar notification of the House.

Adjournment until tomorrow.

Republicans On Committee Increased

Few important changes in republican organization in either Senate or House were in prospect. Rep. Mondell of Wyoming, continued as republican floor leader in the House and Rep. Kitchin of North Carolina returned to that position for the democrats. Republican committee appointments were increased and democratic reduced on all Senate and House committees because of the republican gains in Congress. Chairmanships mostly remained unchanged. Under new Senate rules, many Senate minor committees were abolished and Senators' committee assignments reduced.

The first legislation planned during the extra session is the Fordney emergency tariff bill. Leaders hope to get it into President Harding's hands this week, virtually in the form in which it was vetoed by former President Wilson last March.

Permanent tariff revision is expected to follow the emergency bill in the House.

The Senate calendar is headed by the $25,000,000 Colombian treaty, with an agreement to vote in eight days. Ratification is being predicted although there is vigorous opposition from a large fraction of republicans, who plan after tomorrow to open the doors for debating the special message to the Senate in extra session last month will then be made public.

Immediate action is also planned by the Senate on many nominations. A long list, including recess appointments, is expected tomorrow from the White House.

Appropriation Bills To Be Pressed

Two of the annual appropriation bills needed July 1—the army and navy budgets—are to be pressed through early in the session. The army measure, carrying $346,000,000, suffered a "pocket veto" by former President Wilson last March, while the navy bill, in which the House appropriated $395,000,000 and the Senate naval committee $406,000,000, failed in the Senate fight on disarmament. New emergency measures as to a military program are expected from the administration. Prompt action on the two bills by the House is being predicted, but with further delay in prospect in the Senate by further disarmament agitation. In that connection, Senator Borah promises to renew his effort for action on the United States, Great Britain and Japan brought into a naval reduction conference.

International relations promise to play a large but probably delayed part in the new Congress. Of first consideration is treaty revision of the war declaration with Germany and Austria, status with Germany and Russia. Japanese questions and possibly Panama canal bills were other big subjects in the offering.

In addition to the program of tariff and tax revision, the republican leadership promised action to curtail immigration. The measure vetoed by former President Wilson was scheduled for early passage, possibly first in the Senate while the House is engaged with fiscal reform.

Other Important Measures

Other important measures for which pressure is in progress are: a new congressional reapportionment bill in place of the measure which failed recently in the Senate.

The Calder coal bill for publication of coal information.

The packer control bill.

Cold storage regulation bill.

Patron office reorganization bill.

The Foster maternity aid bill.

The Watson bill liberalizing the war risk insurance act.

Philippine and Porto Rican independence.

Amnesty for persons convicted under the espionage act.

House committee on allied loans.

Railroad reform also is to be prominent. A resolution authorizing an exhaustive investigation of railroad finances and other affairs by the Senate interstate commerce committee is to be introduced at once by Chairman Cummins.

Other inquiries which will be continued will be the Senate judiciary committee's investigation of allied loans and the House judiciary committee's examination of eligibility of Federal Judge Landis to continue as arbitrator of organized baseball.

The life of general investigations into departmental affairs is expected to fall.

Ex-Kaiserin Dies
In Holland

lans that the end was near and Dr. Haeser visited former Emperor-Wilhelm and Prince Adalbert of its approach.

The ex-empress became unconscious and her breathing became fainter and fainter until at six o'clock she left her frail body.

The ex-empress stood at the bedside with her head as death came to her consort, and he remained in the room for some time afterward.

Village Greatly Affected

The quiet little village of Doorn was greatly affected by the news of the ex-empress' death, which spread rapidly early in the day as the articles were going to work. As the death bells tolled, the streets filled with little groups of villagers, discussing the event.

Augusta Victoria had lived in Doorn less than a year, coming here with the ex-emperor from Aachen last May. During the first months of her residence she visited the village two or three times, but afterward her malady grew more serious and she was only occasionally seen by the people driving in the park in a pony cart.

Burial To Take Place At Potsdam

LONDON, April 11.—Funeral services over the body of the late former Empress Augusta Victoria of Germany will be held at the House of Doorn tomorrow and will be attended by only members of her family, says an Amsterdam dispatch to the Central News. The remains will be taken to Potsdam on Wednesday and another funeral service will be held there.

It is stated former emperor William will accompany the body as far as the Dutch frontier, the dispatch adds.

WIERINGEN, HOLLAND, April 11.—Ex-Crown Prince Frederick William was informed early today of the death of his mother. He prepared immediately to go to Doorn, awaiting the arrival of the Dutch authorities to accompany him thither.

Germany's Defeat Hurried Death

Collapse of the Central Powers, and the vicissitudes of war that drove former Emperor William of Germany and his consort into practical exile, in Holland in November, 1918, was the lowering of the curtain in the life of the once beautiful Empress and Queen of Prussia, Augusta Victoria, who, for nearly 40 years had been the most beloved hausfrau of the German people.

In the Netherlands, where she and her husband resided first at Amerongen, and then at Doorn, the former Kaiserin's long continued illness was made more grave by her yearning to return to Berlin and Potsdam. On several occasions, since her residence in Holland, members of her family had been summoned to her bedside in anticipation of her death, but she rallied and survived.

The ex-empress' gravest cloud, next to the abdication of William II, was the tragic death of her son, Prince Joachim, who committed suicide by shooting himself in Berlin in 1920. She was never informed, it is said, that Joachim had taken his own life.

Another depressing event which haunted her, was the Russian revolution and the fate that befell Emperor Nicholas and his family with all of whom, before the war, she had been on the kindest terms.

Cared More For Home Life

Augusta Victoria was notable chiefly for her keen interest in charitable work and in the betterment of the living conditions of the German poor. It has been said of her that she was not an especially gifted woman and that she cared more for the simple duties of home life than for royal functions.

It is not known that she exercised any considerable influence politically, or that she desired to do so. Her talents seemed instead, to be directed to the task of becoming a helpful wife and a devoted mother to her six sons and one daughter. That she achieved this aim, the former Emperor attested frequently. He once described her as "the ideal of the virtues of a German princess. She is it," he declared, "to whom I owe it, I am able to bear the weighty responsibilities of my position in a joyful spirit."

Concerning the attitude of the former Empress toward the war little is known.

Some indication of her point of view was given in her reply in July, 1918, to a letter written by the wife of the Dutch Minister of War. In responding, the then Empress declared that Germany repeatedly had manifested her readiness for peace which, she declared, had not been entertained by the opposing powers.

That she subscribed to the contention of military leaders that Germany was fighting a defensive war, was shown by a statement she issued at the beginning of the great conflict in which she said that Germany was arming itself for a fight "which it did not cause or begin and which it is carrying on only to defend itself." In this appeal she asked German women to aid in caring for the German wounded.

Semi-Invald For Twelve Years

Numerous instances in which the former Empress visited German hospitals and expressed lively sympathy for the wounded soldiers were reported during the war. On one occasion she was said to have broken down at the sight of great numbers of the German wounded sent home after one of the great battles in 1918. For more than 12 years she was a semi-invald.

Her sympathy with underpaid workers of Germany was disclosed on a visit which she paid some years ago to an exhibition of home industries in Berlin where it was stated that she was deeply moved by the evidence she saw there of the fact that many German workers earned only starvation wages. "What can be done to stop this misery," she inquired.

Her tenderness as a mother was recalled during the illness of her second son, former Prince Eitel, whom she attended day and night. Arriving at the house where he was under physicians' care, at 6:30 a. m. one morning, she refused to rouse any one for fear of disturbing him, and, with her maid, walked up and down for an hour in the wintery morning until the doors were opened by the servants.

One of the stories told of her is that she enjoyed visiting schools in country districts selecting one of the pupils and promising the child to fulfill any wish the child might express. A disconcerting instance happened when she did this in Alsace where the schools were being Germanized and

WASHINGTON, D. It was disclosed today by a government brief filed in the supreme court.

Harding Administration

"It is a relief and relaxation. All day long most of my visitors come to me asking for something—either office or action on public matters. Everybody is asking for something. But these people who come to shake hands are not asking for anything. They come only with a smile or a blessing and good wishes. No, it's a relief to get their smiles."

Yield Time to Congressmen

And so has been the experience of cabinet officers. Some of them haven't been able to get very far because of the amount of time they must give to conferences on patronage. One or two of the cabinet officers who haven't been in Washington before are amazed at the demands of members of Congress. They have been told it is no wise to ignore congress, so they yield their time with good natured tolerance.

If the entire membership of Congress were guilty of office seeking, the government wouldn't get anything done. But it is true of a relatively small group who manage to keep the heads of the departments and their subordinates worried all the time. It is said to be the same way under the Wilson administration and one could almost hear the sigh of relief that went up from the White House when Congress adjourned and members went home to mental political feasts.

Some of the Matters Tackled

There can be no catalogue of achievements as yet nor can any list be more than a cursory one. Yet here are some of the things that have been done since the Harding administration took office.

President Harding has tackled the railroad problem and means to put the full influence of the executive behind a settlement of the factor in the business situation which is most disturbing today. It means a reduction in wages and operating expenses, but also a drop in freight rates.

President Harding has tackled the railroad problem and means to put the full influence of the executive behind a settlement of the factor in the business situation which is most disturbing today. It means a reduction in wages and operating expenses, but also a drop in freight rates.

Secretary Weeks has slowly healed up many of the sores in the war-time government, growing out of war-time friction and personal jealousies among the higher officers.

Secretary Wallace has shown the farmers through a series of public statements that he is their friend in the cabinet. He has revealed himself as the archangel champion of the farmer's tariff.

Secretary Davis has had a measure of success in settling the packers' strike but more significant than anything else is his manifest anxiety to gain the confidence of union labor by fair dealing.

Secretary Fall has busied himself with the Alaskan problem and a multitude of other tasks in the interior department which may not make interesting reading but have a great deal to do with the development of the west.

Secretary Mellon has distinguished himself by the splendid way in which he has gotten in the confidence of the others on political grounds. He has said he would not turn out one set of employees simply to make room for another given valuable advice on matters of taxation and financial policy. He is a distinct asset to the Harding administration.

Postmaster General Will Hays with characteristic zeal has busied himself with the huge organization of the post-office department. He doesn't find it as important as the public had been led to believe because of his peculiar antipathy toward Mr. Fiske. But nevertheless he is going after the man through whom the president can be reached. The office-seekers have been crowding the corridors of the department of justice. Mr. Daugherty has had his hands full.

What the Critics Say

No analysis would be fair without pointing out what the critics are saying. Critics centers mostly thus far on the appointment to important diplomatic posts such men as Colonel Hays, who is to be ambassador to Great Britain. The argument is that the Republican party contains many able men who were more deserving of selection. Another criticism heard is that Mr. Harding is making appointments to offices too rapidly and without sufficient consideration. Perhaps this is due to the pressure for appointments and an impatience on the part of the executive to get rid of as much of that pressure as possible. The

Portsmouth Presbytery Convenes Here

The delegates to the spring meeting of Portsmouth Presbytery began gathering at the Second Presbyterian church early this afternoon. To be assigned to their places of entertainment in Presbytery houses. Portsmouth Presbytery comprises the Presbyterian churches of five counties: Adams, Brown, Adams, Jackson, and Laurens, each church sending two delegates, their pastor and an elder.

At six o'clock the delegates and a big group of men from the three local Presbyterian congregations: Central, First and Second churches, will sit down to a Men's Banquet at Second church, to be addressed by the Rev. Dr. Walter L. Wharton, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church of Zanesville, on the subject, "The Men of the Local Church Organized for Service." Rev. Dr. Wharton has done a notable work for men in his own church, and is Second's chairman for men's work; therefore he will speak not only with eloquence but with considerable authority. The speaker is a Cincinnati boy, his father being the well known editor of The Herald and Presbyter, the church's oldest magazine.

At seven-thirty Presbytery will convene in the auditorium of Second church, the retiring moderator, the Rev. George H. Cowan, of Georgetown, as is the custom, preaching the sermon. Rev. Mr. Cowan is a speaker of exceptional vigor and force, and will be heard with interest.

Following the sermon, the sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed, elders of various churches assisting in distributing the elements.

Presbytery will then be constituted with prayer by the Moderator, Stated Clerk Eliss L. Cartwright, pastor of Central church, will thereupon call the roll of Presbytery. Following this comes the election of a new Moderator of Presbytery, and a Temporary Clerk. Adjournment will then be taken until tomorrow morning.

As the delegates will be compelled to remain in the River City over Tuesday night, a platform meeting has been arranged for tomorrow evening, with the Rev. Dr. J. Layton Maize, the widely known pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Huntington as the speaker. Rev. Dr. Maize will speak on the subject, "The Ministry for the Times." He is the pastor of a great church and a noted pulpit orator. No doubt a great crowd of local people will be out to hear him. All the sessions of Presbytery are open to the public, and are usually attended by a considerable group of interested people from the local churches and community. Especially are they urged to attend the evening sessions; to visit, to hear the moderator's sermon and to make up the sacrament, and tomorrow night to hear Rev. Dr. Maize. The banquet, tonight, of course, is for local Presbyterians men.

Three Species of Giraffe.
Dr. Samuel Johnson did not quite cover the facts when, in his celebrated dictionary, he defined the giraffe as "an Abyssinian animal taller than the elephant, but not so thick." As a matter of fact, there are at least three species of giraffe—the one with two horns, long familiar to us, and the second, that dwells in northeastern Africa, and shows a third frontal horn (in old bulls), or, in the Uganda variety, with as many as five small horns on its crown. In the second species the patches in the network of coloring are larger and of a brighter chestnut than in the ordinary kind.

Solid Month Of Argument For High Court

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 11.—Reconvening today after the two weeks Easter recess, the supreme court entered upon a solid month of argument of cases which will conclude the business of the "October term, 1920."

Following the custom of many years the court will suspend argument about the middle of May and will convene publicly not more than twice thereafter, on decision days, before adjourning since the June 13 or 20.

Several cases of national importance were listed on the "possible" list of decisions today. These included the appeal of Senator Truman H. Newberry, from conviction under the corrupt practices act; the New York-New Jersey suit over the Passaic Valley sewerage system; Arkansas-Mississippi boundary case; North Dakota-Minnesota indemnity case; two cases involving the right of organized labor to picket during a strike, and liability of a national union for damages caused by a strike and the "child labor cases."

Arguments are scheduled for this week in the suit brought by Georgia banks to prevent alleged coercion by the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta, Ga.; the government's appeal in the Western Union case, involving the right of that company to complete its line to Miami, Florida, without official permit and a re-argument of the American Hardware case, which is a suit to prevent an alleged illegal combination of lumber dealers.

Fraud In Cuban Elections, Alleged

NEW YORK, April 11.—Charges that fraud was practiced in the recent elections in Cuba have been presented to Secretary of State Hughes and the Liberal party is content to abide by the State Department's decisions, even should they be adverse to their claims, General Jose Miguel Gomez, defeated Liberalist candidate president, said in a statement made public here today.

"We still have faith," he continued, "in the solemn declaration of the American government August 30, last, assuring the Cuban people that the elections to be held in November would be honest, even if directed by the Cuban government, and reaffirming that the United States would watch the elections so as to avoid a repetition of the disgraceful occurrences which characterized the elections of 1916 and fomented the revolution which broke out the following year."

"We are now constrained to believe that efforts to guarantee fair elections in November and again last month were ineffectual."

General Gomez asserted that General Enoch Crowder, U. S. A., who was dispatched to Cuba last January, had seemed more "concerned to preserve the exterior forms of the election law dictated by him than to look to the real heart of the question."

REV. HORST TO ACCEPT SECRETARYSHIP; WILL HAVE HEADQUARTERS IN CHICAGO

Rev. George P. Horst, pastor of Second Presbyterian church, is to leave Portsmouth, having decided to accept the position of Secretary of Men's Work of the Presbytery church, with headquarters in Chicago. Announcement as to his decision was made Sunday at the morning service of the church.

Although many had hoped that Dr. Horst would decide to remain here, the majority were not surprised to hear his decision to take up the new work for it gives him such a broad field in which to work and it is an opportunity that a minister of Dr. Horst's capacity should not pass by. The work of secretary will call Dr. Horst to every state in the Union.

Last week after announcement was made that Rev. Horst had received the call to the larger field, the Session of the church called on him in a body and asked him to remain as pastor of Second church, where he has made a very enviable record. The Session informed him at that time that the entire church was back of them in their request.

Dr. George P. Horst came to Portsmouth in September 1915, from Philadelphia, Pa., where he had a large church for sometime. His work here soon attracted the attention of many other Presbyterians churches, the local church taking on new life after Dr. Horst had taken charge. From 1915 on Dr. Horst has been pastor of Second church, except for over a year, when he served as Chaplain in the U. S. Army overseas. On his return from the service he again took up his work here.

large friendship since taking up his work here six years ago and all are sorry to hear of his decision to leave the feeble City although many join with him in his expression that the work is of such wide scope that it is for his best interests to accept it. After the close of the morning service yesterday many members came forward to express their regrets over his decision to leave the steadily growing church.

The new position carries with it a large increase in salary over what he is receiving here.

Dr. Horst's home is in Detroit, and with headquarters in Chicago he will be much nearer his homefolks.

Rev. George P. Horst has not yet set a date for his departure, although it will probably be before June. Dr. Horst notified the Senior Class of the high school today that he would have to return their invitation to deliver the baccalaureate sermon on account of his accepting the new position. The local pastor has built up a very

Means Another Peace Parley, Say Japs

TOKYO, April 11.—Newspapers of this city have given great prominence to the quote from Charles E. Hughes, American secretary of state to the allies relative to the subject of mandates in general and that of the Island of Yap in particular. There has been no official comment, but in responsible unofficial circles the opinion is held that the American note virtually implies another peace conference.

Statements made by Vice Admiral Tomosaburo, Kato, of Marine, last month relative to the Japanese naval policy are regarded here as intended to answer charges that Japan is incurably militaristic and is insisting upon naval expansion. Three statements which were made to the Associated Press are also looked upon as paving the way for an international discussion of navy policies. Representative Japanese declare that if the naval race between Great Britain and the United States continue, Japan must be obliged eventually to drop out because of financial considerations. If the other powers refuse to curtail their naval programs and decline to discuss the matter, the government is liable to lose the support of the nation which is clamoring for internal reforms.

SWEAR OFF TOBACCO

"No-To-Bac" has helped thousands to break the costly, nerve-shattering tobacco habit. Whenever you have a longing for a cigarette, cigar, pipe, or for a chew, just place a harmless No-To-Bac tablet in your mouth instead to help relieve that awful desire. Undeclared Bigelow Specials To Meet Beaver Team Wednesday

Wednesday night in the High School gym there will be a hotly contested basketball game when the Bigelow Specials will lock horns with the Beaver High School five.

This game is sure to be fast and exciting as it is the first time these two teams have met. The Specials have one of the fastest basketball teams in the city. They have been organized for two years and have not met defeat in that time. It is composed of boys from Bigelow church and they have been stepping some the last two seasons, having gone up against some of the strongest teams in this section. They have 31 straight victories to their credit and are going into the fray Wednesday night determined to win their 32nd game.

It will probably be the last game of the season.

The Specials will probably line up with Foster and Gordley forwards; Ogler, center; Deatley and Flowers, guards. There will be a charge of 25 cents and the game will start at 8 o'clock.

Tickets on sale by all the players.

Joe Evans Is Real Star

Joe Evans, the Mississippi medic, is a sensation. The young doctor is as swift on his feet as any man on the team, and he further he hikes the more speed he generates. It is a thrilling picture to see him dart from near-center over to the foul line in left to snag a hit. Spoke, Jamieson, Craney, Smith and Wood are compelled to doff the old chaplain to the southerner when it comes to covering terra firma.

Going After The Gamblers

CHICAGO, April 11.—The American League will conduct a continuous campaign against gambling during the coming season, Myron Danforth Johnson, president announced today.

Mr. Johnson has just returned from a tour of the American League cities and has completed arrangements for representatives of the organization to attend every game in order to prevent a recurrence of the 1919 world series scandal. These representatives will be stationed in all the stands and will have orders to take immediate action at anytime they notice anything that seems suspicious.

In addition, each umpire will take the role of a special investigator and will carefully analyze every game. Anything that seems out of place on the diamond will be reported to Mr. Johnson.

Meeting Is Postponed

Owing to the illness of Miss Edna Davis, the business and social meeting of the Bigelow Junior League scheduled for this evening has been postponed.

In New Home

Rev. W. H. Bishop, new pastor of Kendall Avenue Baptist church, has located at 2119 Eighteenth street. His wife and son Morris, will arrive here tonight from near Flint, Mich., from which place Rev. Bishop came to Portsmouth.

The free cooking school at 907 Gallia street invites the ladies of Portsmouth to attend its daily sessions. Learn how to cook scientifically. Experts in charge. 11-5t CHILLICOTHE — Damage estimated at between 20,000 and $50,000 along Scioto valley. Temperature went as low as 21. Orchard owners declare fully eighty percent of the apple crop destroyed. Stone fruits also damaged.

FAVOR 44 HOUR WEEK MARION—Delegates to Ohio Synodical conference expressed sentiment on part of local unions to support International officers in their insistence on establishment of 44 hour week in commercial shops.

Bird House Contest

The Boy Scouts will hold their first Bird House Contest this spring, when a committee of three decide on which one of the bird boxes submitted, is the best. Many of the Scouts are now at work on their bird boxes to hand them in before the close of the week, when the contest ends.

The bird boxes will all be numbered with no names on them, when the judges inspect them, so they will have no idea to whom they are awarding the prize.

The prize is a week free at the Boy Scout Camp this summer.

A False Impression

An erroneous impression has been created in the minds of many local people regarding the disappearance of Frank Stanton's Moon automobile. The manner in which the affair was handled indicated that the car had been stolen. Mr. Stanton states that he never entertained such an idea and was very much surprised that others had this opinion.

The young man to whom the car had been loaned has always enjoyed a reputation for honesty and integrity. This matter, which arose because of a misunderstanding, contains nothing which can in any way justify the slightest reflection on this young man's honesty.

New Minister Here

Rev. T. E. Britton of Weston, who recently accepted the pulpit of the Ohio Avenue Christian church at New Boston, arrived Saturday night and delivered his first sermon as pastor of the church Sunday morning.

Rev. Britton has a wife and a son eleven years old with him at New Boston. He has another son about twenty years of age who is working away from home. Rev. Britton and wife will go to housekeeping on Grove street, New Boston as soon as their household effects arrive.

FRUIT CROP KILLED

According to County Farm Agent Walter F. Gahn, Scioto county's crop of cherries, peaches and pears is practically ruined by the last two cold spells. Most of the above fruit was killed a few days ago and what was left was killed this morning when the temperature went down to 26. The county will have probably a one-fourth crop of apples the cold not killing all of them on account of the heavy setting of buds.

W. G. Cole of the West Side reported ice on a pond on his farm and ice a half inch thick in tubs of water. I. H. Cadot of South Webster who was in the city this morning reported a temperature down to 27 at that village and said that all fruit not killed by the cold spell recently was killed last night.

THIS IS NIGHT OF BIG BOXING SHOW

Everything is in readiness for the all star boxing show the Portsmouth Athletic Club will put off tonight in the Auditorium, Gallia and Bond streets. The first preliminary will start at 8:30 and the other scraps will follow immediately.

Webb Colley of this city and Red Young of Lima will be the participants in the main go of ten rounds. They will weigh in at The Times office and both no doubt will be under 145 pounds.

Colley arrived here Sunday from his home in Wellsburg and is here to make his home. He says he is in the best possible condition and will have no alibis to offer if he is defeated. He is a clean cut fighter and his friends insist that Young will have to stop along some if the local lad is defeated. Both boys are fast and clever and should put up a memorable battle.

Then there will be an eight round semi-final between Battling Owey of Ironton and Dick Smith of Logan, W. Va., a six round affair between Ralph Roissinger and Nig Clark of this city and a four round affair between Alvin Brown and Jack Major of this city.

There is a pod of class attached to this card and the Auditorium should be packed with fight fans. Popular pugilist Juddity will be the third man in the ring.

Let's go.

Tommy Milton Will Pilot New Car at Indianapolis

Tommy Milton, the world's speed king, who drove a car 156.04 miles per hour and then, when it burst into flames headed it into the ocean, is entered in the International 600-mile race to be held over the bricks of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, Monday, May 30.

BROWNS BEAT RICKEY'S TEAM

ST. LOUIS, April 11.—The St. Louis Americans retained the city championship by defeating the St. Louis Nationals 5 to 4 Sunday in the seventh and deciding game of the spring series.

The score:

St. Louis Nationals	4	8	0
St. Louis Nationals	4	8	0

Carl Smith, Austin McHenry and Wm. Dillhoefer played great ball in this series. The Browns dropped the first two games to Rickey's team, but staged a great come back.

Sciotoville High Beaten

The Sciotoville high school and the South Webster high baseball teams crossed bats Saturday afternoon and a very close and exciting game resulted. Mossburger twirled in fine style for the South Webster nine, and had the Sciotoville boys at his mercy most of the time. Errors by Scott were responsible for two of Sciotoville's runs. Courtney played a star game for the Sciotoville nine, getting two hits, one of them being a homer.

Next Saturday Sciotoville will play at South Webster and another close game is anticipated.

What Will Roushless Reds Do?

Where will the Reds finish without the services of Eddie Roush, their star outfielder and best hitter? This question is agitating the minds of thousands of Ohio Valley fans. They do not believe the Reds will finish in the first division without Roush. He is a grand player, has a winning spirit and many fans believe he is worth every cent he is asking for.

To Impanel Grand Jury

Judge Thomas, who returned Saturday night from Athens, where he held court last week, will Wednesday morning impanel a grand jury for the April term of Common Pleas court, which was opened at 10 o'clock this morning.

There are more than a score of cases on the criminal docket for investigation and it is probable that it will require two days and perhaps three for the jurors to finish their work.

Reds Meet Pirates In The Opening Game In Redland

With the usual impressive and rather noisy exercises the Reds will pry off the baseball lid in Cincinnati, Wednesday, when they will have as their opponents the fast and resourceful Pittsburg team.

Johnson Had Almost Lost Use Of Legs

"The very first bottle of Tanlac convinced me it was exactly the medicine I needed," said J. J. Johnson, 628 1-2 Somerset Ave., Johnstown, Pa., well known Superintendent of Construction, American Mine Machinery Co., of Canton, O.

"For five years I had about as bad a case of rheumatism as it seemed to me like a man could have. My legs were almost useless. I just had to hobble around and could hardly straighten up. Every muscle and bone ached to the very marrow almost day and night. My appetite was very poor and I had to eat the lightest of foods, otherwise I would suffer afterwards. I was intensely nervous and so restless I could not sleep at night and mornings I was as tired as when I went to bed.

"But when I finished my first bottle of Tanlac I felt altogether like a different man, my appetite picked up and my digestion became better. Now I haven't an ache or pain, my appetite is so keen I can hardly satisfy it, and everything agrees with me perfectly. I sleep soundly every night, have gained sixteen pounds in weight and am just bristling with new life and energy. Tanlac is certainly a wonderful medicine.—Adv.

Mercury Dropped To 26 This Morning; Fruit Is Damaged

The mercury dropped down to below the freezing point Monday morning and the cold wave was accompanied by that old enemy to gardeners and orchardists, "Jack Frost," who wrought much damage in this section to fruit and early vegetation in making his appearance so late in the season.

The thermometer registered 26 degrees this morning and the low mark touched by the mercury Sunday morning was 34.

This ice was frozen Monday and unprotected plants were no doubt killed by the coat of frost which spread to every nook.

Too Much Tobacco After Forty-Five Suicidal, Says Doctor

Immoderate use of tobacco after forty-five is suicidal, says Dr. Hirsch, field, eminent medical author, and other doctors agree with him. Excessive use of tobacco is bad for anyone, at any time, and how much you can stand can only be told after it is too late if you have used too much. Better to quit, and here Nicotol will help you. Get a few Nicotol tablets from any druggist and let them drive the craving from you. If you want to "renew" after seeing how much better you feel without tobacco you can do so at any time. Nicotol is sold under a positive money-back guarantee. It costs you little to quit and nothing if Nicotol fails.

Note: If you know you are smoking too much let Nicotol help you reduce the quantity and show you how easy it is to quit altogether. Ask your druggist about the success of Nicotol. He knows and can be trusted to tell you the truth.

How To Revitalize Wornout Exhausted Nerves

Your nerve power depends on plenty of good, rich, red blood of the kind that organic iron—Nuxated Iron—helps make. Nuxated Iron is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples, while metallic iron is iron just as it comes from the action of strong acids on iron filings. Nuxated Iron does not injure the teeth nor upset the stomach; it is an entirely different thing from ordinary metallic iron. It quickly helps make rich, red blood, revitalize wornout, exhausted nerves and give you new strength and energy. Over 1,000,000 people annually are using it. Beware of substitutes. Always insist upon having genuine organic iron—Nuxated Iron. Look for the letters N. I. on every tablet. Sold by all druggists in tablets only—never in liquid form.—Adv.

JUSTICE

EVERY American familiar with the record of Major General Hunter Liggett in France will indorse the proposal of Secretary Weeks of the war department that General Liggett be promoted to the rank of lieutenant general, following his retirement from the active list.
The commander of a million men, the director of decisive operations in the closing months of the war, a soldier of unblemished record, General Liggett surely merits the recognition which Secretary Weeks would have congress confer upon him.
We hope that congress will take favorable action on this matter and allow General Liggett to carry with him into his retirement the honors of a rank to which his distinguished services entitle him.
It is the least that the American people can do for a soldier whose work for America in the face of great odds will live in history for all time.

A COURT PRECEDENT

JUDGE WESTENHAVER of the federal court of Cleveland will be envied by attorneys because of the expeditious and effective manner in which he disposed of a case in which he was both judge and attorney for the defense.
When a farmer was brought into court on a charge of having in his possession property designed for the manufacture of intoxicating liquor, it was found that the man did not have an attorney to represent him, so Judge Westenhaber offered to act as legal counsel for the defendant and represent him before the court, which in this instance happened to be presided over by Judge Westenhaber. Then the judge, acting as attorney, made a motion to himself that the court dismiss the action for lack of sufficient evidence to convict. The judge sustained the motion offered by himself as attorney, and the case was dismissed.
"I want for this defendant the same consideration that any man who appeared with a regularly engaged attorney would receive," Judge Westenhaber said when asking permission of the district attorney to represent the accused. "The defendant probably is satisfied that he at least fared as well as he would have done with a regular attorney, with the advantage of saving a fee."
While a judge may temporarily make himself the representative of a person accused in his court, it is fortunate that an attorney is not able to make himself a judge, thereby assuring himself all the benefits that inhere in the authority possessed by the head of the court.

SOVIET BUTCHERY

STORIES of terrorism from Russia have long been so numerous and frequent as to take on the nature of the commonplace; nevertheless it always is impossible to suppress shudders at cold-blooded slaughter of human beings, no less when it is done by "proletarian" leaders to subdue an opposing faction of the people than when reading of the ruthlessness of the police under the old czarism. The proletarian Trotsky, in dealing with the rebels at Kronstadt, showed himself an iron dictator capable of cold-bloodedness the equal of that exhibited by some of the notorious royal butchers. Of more than 1,000 taken prisoner, Trotsky had all the military and civil leaders picked out and executed. No mild pacifying measures to be taken; death for all who stir up commotion against the soviet leaders.
From the standpoint of iron government the practice of killing off leaders of revolt may be best, but the point is that the Lenin-Trotsky "proletarian rule" promised to be different; it would deal so fairly and so gently with the people that they would recover from the hardships suffered under the czar. With the overthrow of Romanoff czarism humanity everywhere hoped that the dream of a better day for Russia was to be realized. Let it be devoutly hoped that, although delayed, it still will come and before long.

Meanwhile it cannot be overlooked that in cold-bloodedness the new czars continue to emulate the old.

THE CLASSROOM, THEN ATHLETICS

IN dropping from its rolls star athletes who became delinquent in scholarship, Princeton is adhering to the admirable rule followed by other great colleges and universities. That insistence upon classroom standing for athletics is not universal among all colleges in this country both great and small, is unfortunate.

Athletics are an important part of college training, but they are subordinate to the classroom. Wherever faculties forget or ignore this relation, moral decay begins. The luster which championship teams cast on such institutions quickly fades and the very object which a false pre-eminence of athletics is expected to accomplish is lost.

College athletics thrive best where every participant toes the mark in his classroom.

Lead The Immigrant To The Land

By Frederic J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 11.—The problems of what to do with the immigrant of crowded cities and of idle farm lands can all be in a measure solved by a project for giving the immigrant every opportunity to obtain a farm as soon as he arrives in America. In the opinion of the new Commissioner General of Immigration, Mr. W. W. Husband, as expressed in an exclusive interview.
Mr. Husband has not yet perfected his plan for doing this, but will soon begin holding conferences with his old colleagues for that purpose. His general idea is to use uncultivated lands in private ownership, under some commercial arrangement, with government supervision, or co-operation. The immigrant is not to be given a ready-made farm, but aid and instruction in clearing waste land, as the pioneers did. The farm is to be paid for in long installments.
While there is wide disagreement as to how the thing should be done, all students of the agrarian problem of this country agree with Mr. Husband that the great need is for some system by which the man with little or no capital, who is capable of farming, may get hold of land on such terms that he can make a living out of it.

"The immigrant," according to the new Commissioner General, "ought to be the logical element in our population to restore the balance between rural and city population. A considerable part of the normal immigration of the United States is a farming population that knows nothing but farming. These people hold the love of the soil as a native inheritance, and their hope is to own a few acres of land and some stock. I have visited the peasants of various countries of Europe. I have eaten with them; and slept in their houses, and I know that land is their dream and ambition. That is one big thing. You have not got to teach the immigrant to love the land."

Mr. Husband went on to explain that this desire for land ownership does not lead the immigrant to seek a farm for himself when he comes to this country, because in recent years friends and relatives who have preceded him have not gone to farms. The immigrant comes here more or less dependent on others of his race to help him. He follows the example of these others, and settles down in New York's East Side, or in a New England factory town, and starts vending or working in a factory. No matter what his race may be, the foreigner is timidly clannish and clings to the program mapped out by those who come ahead of him.

Mr. Husband holds that the qualities that make these immigrants follow the leadership of others will attract them to the farms, once the tide is deflected from the cities to the land.
"When immigration was largely from northern Europe," he says, "the alien who landed here made straight for the farm. Then southern and eastern Europe began to send more immigrants coincident with the enormous industrial development of the United States, beginning about 1880. In 1880, 70.5 per cent of the population of this country was rural, and then began the drift to the cities from the farms and from Europe, until last year the rural population was only 48.6. The trend toward the city would have existed anyway. But the millions who have come from Europe since it started, have very largely contributed to it."

"In this period we have developed a wonderful industrial system and the immigrant has been a big factor in its success. We owe him a good deal, but more immigrants continue to pour in from Europe, and there is a constantly decreasing opportunity for them in the cities. They are merely increasing the difficulty of an already difficult situation."

"We will probably have immigration in the future as in the past, and we must soon do something to attract the aliens to sections where they are needed and where they can make a fair living."

The remedy proposed by the commissioner lies in the millions of acres of waste land in this country. There are no longer enough desirable homesteads on government land to supply many immigrants. It will have to be a commercial proposition based on the uncultivated lands in private ownership.

With hard work this land can be converted into good, one man farms. But there must be hard work, because the farmer who takes the land must begin as the homesteader does. He will probably have to build his house and barn. He will have to prepare the soil. But this is no more than pioneers, immigrants and native born Americans, have been doing all over the country in the years when it was being developed. The job should be easier now, with parcel post, mail order systems, railroads, and practical government assistance.

Government Must Help
Mr. Husband feels that if the government does decide to help the immigrant get a start on a farm, the work should be carried further and an extra effort made to help him achieve success. That is, he thinks the country agent and the Home Demonstration Branch of the Department of Agriculture should give the foreign farmer and his wife special attention. The Children's Bureau can also help him, and local and state agencies can look out for the sanitation of his farm, and the education of his children.

First of all, however, Mr. Husband feels that the foreigner should not be shut out to a piece of land where he can only catch sight of the smoke from his nearest neighbor's house on a clear day. This isolation has been a discomfort that many homesteaders have had to endure. Isolation is especially distasteful to the immigrant and will undoubtedly be avoided in planning the new homestead project. Waste land can be found in the crowded east as well as in the west. A large tract of land at a considerable distance from existing farms would probably, if turned over to the immigrants, be divided among a number of them, so that they would not feel shut out from other people. A whole colony of foreigners, however, is not so desirable from the Americanization point of view, as a few mixed in with American farmers.

People in different parts of the country have begun to write to Mr. Husband saying that there is land in their localities which would be suitable for farm development, and offering to co-operate with the government and the new settlers. Though no definite plan has been formed, letters have come from such widely distributed states as Florida, Michigan, Utah, North Dakota, Kentucky, and Maine.

A railroad official has written to say that the railroads ought to co-operate in such a plan. An Italian bank official offered to loan money to Italian immigrants for land investment, and other organizations have written expressing interest or offering suggestions.

The first step contemplated is to get together officials of the Labor, Agriculture and Interior Departments to formulate a working plan and to see if existing government machinery is sufficient to carry it out. If not, it will be necessary for congress to pass a law giving the necessary authority, and perhaps providing some funds, before any thing can be done.

If it is worked out as Mr. Husband sees it, the immigrant farm plan will be under the general direction of the government, even though it involves a commercial deal between the owner of the land, the immigrant, and either a bank or the United States Treasury.

In recent years there have been plans similar to this one engineered by promoters who took more interest in the immigrant's dollars than in his welfare. From experience with these schemes, the foreigner has become wary of "good farm lands cheap" proposals. If the government takes a hand, it will be necessary for it to prove to the immigrant in the beginning that it is not staging a "sight-of-hand performance." The government cannot possibly say to any individual farmer, "I will guarantee your success, or pay your losses," but it will have to assure him that the project is a sound business proposition and that the government agencies stand ready to teach him and help him with his problems.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

The Sibley Service, Gallipoli, Ohio By W. G. SIBLEY

An Onion Glut
The onion is the most democratic of vegetables in that it appeals more to democracy than to aristocracy. Its flavor is that of the fundamental, so to speak. There is no middle ground with this pungent growth. It is liked or disliked, and its friends and foes find no grounds for compromise.
But withal it is a highly wholesome food for all whose noses, palates and stomachs are attuned to it. Just at the present time there is a great glut of onions on the market, their price is low, and an increase in their consumption is economically desirable. People are asked to increase their use of the vegetable to dispose of the surplus, and the farmers who raise them will suffer.

Most people want a tonic in the spring. The onion is a tonic. Take it instead of bitters.
A Novelty in Washington
Gen. Dawes, head of the commission for German claims relief, talks turkey. He says:
"A deplorable situation exists. We will find the remedy and stay in continuous session until we do. Let's have this committee get together, get some where, and get through."
No adjournment, no recesses, no traveling, no letters? Can you beat it? And in Washington, the traditional home of leisure, deliberation, procrastination and long drawing out investigations, of all places!

Taking up the inadequate provision of hospital beds for fighting soldiers, the General asked, where the present system is so one who doesn't give a damn who says how many beds are available? Just like that. God help the recreant dawdlers Dawes detects neglecting our wounded soldiers! What he will smear on them will be a plenty.

An Iowa farmer thinks the times are out of joint. He sold 22 calves at 6 cents a pound, bought a pair of shoes for $12 and had $12.20 left.
Windsorites raged in central Nebraska last week. Wind is on the job in Omaha nearly all the time. It is the best ventilated city in America and one of the sunniest. The meteorologists say Omaha is in the center of a cyclonic area. Right or not, the city has a constant change of every two minutes, and liner sides that those over the Atlantic Mountains with sunsets that are dreams of Heaven.

Mrs. Eddy, dead and gone ten years, is "still an active officer" of the Christian Science church, a follower content in court, where a judge is called to decide whether she is legally alive or dead. "There are more things in heaven and earth, Horatio, than are dreamt of in your philosophy."

Religious Dancing
Dr. Gunder, rector of St. Mark's in the Bonaville, an Episcopal church in New York City, had six hundred young women in a ritual dance last Sunday. This congregation was called on to bear witness that the dance was a holy thing, no matter what outsiders might say. It is the oldest of every religion, and liner sides that those over the Atlantic Mountains with sunsets that are dreams of Heaven.

A Tight Grip
"I see that Miss Vampy held onto the young minister until she landed him."
"Well, she had the right dope at that."
"How's that?"
"Why, she held fast to that which was good."

The New Maid
A Back Bay lady lured of overbearing her newly hired girl making her first attempt to answer the telephone. "Hello!" came from the receiver. "Hello!" answered the girl, flushed with pride at being able to give the prompt answer.

Exercising Her Right
"Just because she was married, a woman the other day undertook to lecture me on the way I ought to behave."
"Why didn't you tell her to mind her own business?"
"She'd say that was what she was doing—you see, she was my wife."

Wise Jottings
When the world begins to applaud a man for his actions his head gets too large for his hat.
There are lots of things that a man can't afford to do and he can't afford not to do—so they keep him going.
When a woman is unable to say anything nice about a man she tries to make up for it by saying he comes from a good family.

Yes, Luke, we know that every married man has a grievance—and so has his wife until she becomes a widow. The poor man has two advantages over his rich neighbor. He can wear out all his old clothes and he is seldom troubled with tiresome callers.
No man's life is one grand, sweet song if he is married to a woman who only thinks she can sing.

Oh, well, the corkscrew is a nasty, crooked thing, anyway.
Shoes have tongues, but it's a good thing sometimes, they don't tell all they know.
Some men get so far away from the romance of youth that when they revisit the old swimming hole they want to turn on the warm water faucet.

Correr!
"What do you understand by the 'ze of discretion'?"
"Merely when a man realizes that he is either too young to marry, or too old."

Jud Tunkins.
Jud Tunkins says some people never have any idea of pulling together unless the proposition is some kind of a political pull for their personal benefit.

Missouri Philosopher.
"Most everybody remembers the kid in the old reading class who when he came to a word he didn't know gave a little grunt and went on. We've often thought he was smarter than he got credit for. It's not a bad policy to follow even in life. The chances are the kid wouldn't have known a darn thing about what the word meant if he had stopped and had it pronounced. Most of us do give a little grunt when we hit a snag in life, but not always because we don't know what it means.—Lamar Democrat."

Mulched cars for girls "I continue to be the rage. Who remembers when only fellows that looked good in stiff hats wore 'em?"

New-York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. McINTYRE

CALIFORNIA, April 11.—It is a pleasurable sensation suddenly to leave a bleak desert and find yourself in a fairland of tropical trees. That is the experience of the traveler in arriving at Needles. The first thing that caught my eye was a palm tree in a garage yard. The air is balmy and laden with the perfumes of tropical fruits.
People jokingly refer to "California Boosters." I do not believe it needs any boosting. The girls at Needles came down to meet the trains. After leaving New York where furs were in demand, it was odd to see them in sundress and hats. Many carried fans.

Furry Arbuckle went up to chat with Jake, the engineer, and a crowd of the Indian peddlers gathered around him with no little awe. But the girls gave him only a passing glance. East coast train has its movie star and I believe the girls were more interested in our horn rumped, speckled friend from Boston, who walked briskly up and down the platform.

At Needles one gets his first view of the California hair cut, which is quite an institution in itself. It is trimmed after the manner of the palm trees, closely clipped up all sides with a heavy pitch of growth on top. I imagine the barbers were formerly sheep shearers. At any rate they wield a wicked clipper. With the California hair cut you imagine the victim is bald until he removes his hat.

Shirts are worn much longer out here. My attention was called to this phenomenon by a farmer from Iowa who had recently attended the poultry show in New York. He was en route to Santa Barbara to attend a convention of the Walnut Growers' Association and he confided that in July he would be one of those present at the Missouri and Kansas Grange meeting in Kansas City. He seems to be a man of large affairs and carried a tooth brush in the upper right hand vest pocket.

Cicero, the cat, has stopped roving at night. He seems to be reconciled to his fate. Or perhaps he feels the influence of California's well known hospitality. At any rate he is quite content.

Alex, the porter, has just brought the evening editions of the Los Angeles newspapers. Eight column headlines announce: "Earthquake hits the East." But after reading it you learn that some observatory attendant found a slight blur on his seismograph that morning. It is California's way of resenting the Easterner's remarks about earthquakes. This dispatch was dated Terre Haute, Ind., and that is not east to the born New Yorker, who refers to New Jersey as "out west." The death of Bert Leston Taylor, the Chicago humorist, was recorded in the same newspapers. He had a large and enthusiastic following. Nearly every one on the train was saddened by the news. It is our last meal on the train. The waiters were in a genial mood. Tomorrow night they start back to Chicago, where they have a three day lay off.

Q. What place in the world has the heaviest rainfall?—J. S.
A. So far as known at the present time, the heaviest precipitation occurs on the southern slopes of the Himalaya Mountains in northern India. Here during the monsoon period, usually from May to September, inclusive, the heaviest rainfall has been recorded. At Cherrapunji in this region, the average annual precipitation is about 40 feet, or slightly less than 500 inches.

Q. Is the word "oblique" as in use in the Army pronounced as though the "i" were long "e" or long "i"?—L. S. H.
A. The War Department says that the word "oblique" when used in the Army is pronounced with the sound of long "i" as in "like."

Q. What kind of cloth should be used for dusting furniture?—T. F. G.
A. Silk makes an excellent dust cloth because it leaves no lint. Old silk stockings and underwear should be saved for this purpose.

Q. Why are buffalo moths so called?—A. A.
A. These moths were first noticed in the United States in Buffalo, N. Y., about 1872, and were so named for this reason. They are also called carpet beetles or carpet bugs.

Q. What is meant by the Benefit of Clergy in a legal sense?—C. A. W.
A. By the Medieval Church this was a privilege claimed for the clergy when charged with crime, exempting them from the process of the secular courts. In England the privilege was conceded in all cases of felony except that of treason against the king and originally available only to persons in holy orders. Later, in 1793, it was extended to all clerics, whether religious or secular, and finally to all persons of education making this an anachronism; the practice was abolished in 1837. In the United States the right was recognized in only a few cases in the colonies of Virginia and North and South Carolina. Under this law, laymen who were exempted were branded the left thumb, as the Benefit of Clergy could be claimed but once and the brand was an evidence of former conviction. This method is now abolished both in the United States and Great Britain.
